

Silly vs. Funny

Silly is Out – Talking is In (by the end of Kindergarten)

But Friends can still be funny with each other. What is the difference between being Silly and being Funny?

Silly 	Funny
Definition:  Weak-minded or lacking good sense; foolish; absurd; ridiculous; irrational (online dictionary)	Definition:  Providing fun; causing amusement or laughter; amusing; comical
Laughter:            It may sound more like a sneer;            The people laughing may not look happy – may look a little mean. 	Laughter:            The sound is a full laugh; The people may look happy.
The people are laughing at you.	The people are laughing with you.
Value?:            No real value offered by being silly. 	Value:            Value offered by making people smile and laugh about something that is truly funny.

Silly vs. Funny

Circle all the answers that apply...may be one or more answers to a question

1. You walk up to the teacher's desk to hand in a worksheet. You accidentally trip and fall. Some of your friends start to laugh. You may feel...
  - a. Happy that you got some attention
  - b. Mad that others are laughing
  - c. A little embarrassed because you were surprised by losing your balance and now people are laughing.

2. After you trip and fall, if you realize that it was just an accident and kind of funny, and so you laugh too – then your friends are
  - a. Laughing at you because you tripped and fell
  - b. Laughing with you because you tripped and fell and you also realize that it was kind of funny.

3. A few days later you feel that your school day is a bit boring. Because your classmates laughed when you tripped and fell the other day, you decide to do it again to get them to laugh. You purposely trip and fall. Your classmates laugh. You do it a two more times throughout the day. People laugh each time. You laugh too. They are....
  - a. Laughing with you.
  - b. Laughing at you.

-----

4. At the lunch table you dribble some chocolate milk out of the corner of your mouth. You see that the person across from you giggles and points at what you are doing. You put more chocolate milk in your mouth and now you are allowing a lot to dribble from your mouth. More kids begin to laugh. This would likely be considered
  - a. Funny
  - b. Silly
  - c. Neither...they are laughing at the person behind you.

Silly vs. Funny

5. Being silly means....
  - a. That someone did something that could make people laugh. At the very least, even if no one laughs it still gets people's attention.
  - b. That a person provided a good source of humor – funny stuff for all to enjoy.
  - c. You do something so another person will like you.

6. Being funny means you... (two answers can be correct)
  - a. Act really goofy
  - b. Do something that makes others feel good/happy
  - c. Bring real value to the situation by making people laugh

7. Is being Funny and being Silly the same thing?
  - a. Yes
  - b. No
  - c. Maybe – if maybe....what makes it a “maybe”?

8. The most important thing that a new friend looks for when he or she is with you is... (up to three possible answers are correct).
  - a. That you are an honest friend
  - b. That you always make him or her laugh
  - c. That you are friendly
  - d. That you bring value to the relationship

9. BONUS QUESTION: When is it OK to be embarrassed? (You can write in an answer or raise your hand and offer it out loud.)

10. BONUS QUESTION: When should you NOT feel embarrassed? (You can write in an answer or raise your hand and offer it out loud.)

Silly vs. Funny

Answers

1. You walk up to the teacher's desk to hand in a worksheet. You accidentally trip and fall. Some of your friends start to laugh. You may feel...
  - a. Happy that you got some attention
  - b. Mad that others are laughing
  - c. A little embarrassed because you were surprised by losing your balance and now people are laughing.

2. After you trip and fall, if you realize that it was just an accident and kind of funny, and so you laugh too – then your friends are
  - a. Laughing at you because you tripped and fell
  - b. Laughing with you because you tripped and fell and you also realize that it was kind of funny.

3. A few days later you feel that your school day is a bit boring. Because your classmates laughed when you tripped and fell the other day, you decide to do it again to get them to laugh. You purposely trip and fall. Your classmates laugh. You do it a two more times throughout the day. People laugh each time. You laugh too. They are...
  - a. Laughing with you.
  - b. Laughing at you.

-----

4. At the lunch table you dribble some chocolate milk out of the corner of your mouth. You see that the person across from you giggles and points at what you are doing. You put more chocolate milk in your mouth and now you are allowing a lot to dribble from your mouth. More kids begin to laugh. This would likely be considered
  - a. Funny
  - b. Silly
  - c. Neither...they are laughing at the person behind you.

Silly vs. Funny

5. Being silly means....
  - a. That someone did something that could make people laugh. At the very least, even if no one laughs it still gets people's attention.
  - b. That a person provided a good source of humor – funny stuff for all to enjoy.
  - c. You do something so another person will like you.

6. Being funny means you... (two answers are correct)
  - a. Act really goofy
  - b. Do something that makes others feel good/happy
  - c. Bring real value to the situation by making people laugh

7. Is being Funny and being silly the same thing?
  - a. Yes
  - b. No
  - c. Maybe – if maybe....what makes it a “maybe”?

8. The most important thing that a new friend looks for when he or she is with you is....(up to three possible answers are correct)
  - a. That you are an honest friend
  - b. That you always make him or her laugh
  - c. That you are friendly
  - d. That you bring value to the relationship (BEST Answer, others are right by not complete.)

9. BONUS QUESTION: When is it OK to be embarrassed? (You can write in an answer or raise your hand and offer it out loud.)

10. BONUS QUESTION: When should you NOT feel embarrassed?
(You can write in an answer or raise your hand and offer it out loud.)

Silly vs. Funny

1. The teacher is reviewing a writing project and children are called on to give answers: adjectives, adverbs, nouns, etc. So far every answer offered has been accepted by the teacher. Max (who sits in front of the class) raises his hand and when called upon offers a word that is not allowed in school (swear word). Max quickly turns around to look at the kids behind him. Max has a big grin. A few of the kids way in the back of the class laugh a little. Max laughs too. In this case, Max was...
  - a. Being Funny
  - b. Being Silly
  - c. Being a nice distraction from the work...
  - d. Going to get in BIG trouble.
2. One way you can tell if something said or done is silly or truly funny is if...
  - a. People laugh
  - b. People look embarrassed
  - c. The laughter either sounds kind of sinister, or sounds like a whole – fully body laugh.
3. Another way you can tell if something said or done is silly or truly funny is if...
  - a. The people laughing are looking happy or looking a little mean or sinister.
  - b. The teacher laughs too.
  - c. You are laughing too.
4. And another way you can tell if something said or done is silly or truly funny is if...
  - a. Your favorite friend is laughing or not
  - b. If you are the only one doing the silly/funny behavior or other people doing it too.
  - c. Your teacher laughs

Clues to focus on are in
blue

Silly vs. Funny

5. If a few people are doing something that makes each of them laugh, then it is likely a _____ thing.
  - a. Funny
  - b. Silly
  - c. Weird

6. If a few people are doing something that makes each of them laugh, then it is likely something that is....
  - a. The same, meaning people are doing the same thing.
  - b. Very different, meaning one person is doing something that is very different than the others.
  - c. Going to get them in big trouble.

6. If only one person is doing something and other people are laughing, then it...
  - a. May be just silly because he is the only one doing the behavior
  - b. Is most definitely funny – very, very funny.

7. If only one person is doing something and other people are laughing, then it is likely that...
  - a. It's a situation where people are doing the same thing.
  - b. It's a situation where one person is acting different than the overall group.

8. One person has a yellow sticky on his nose...this would be:
  - a. Silly
  - b. Funny

9. A small group of kids are wearing a yellow sticky on each of their noses...this could be:
  - a. Silly
  - b. Funny